500 GIRLS WITH
SCARLET BRAND
STORM VICE FOE

Made San Francisco Church
and Demand of the Pastor,
"What're We to Do?"

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Nearly 500 women, mostly of the underworld, stormed the Central Methodist Episcopal church today and asked the Rev. Paul Smith what he intended to do with them in connection with his campaign for the suppression of the downtown telerail.

This campaign started when Mr. Smith was told that street soliciting was in progress at the very doors of his church. Feeling that he was meeting little encouragement, he toured the district in company with investigators, and newspapers published what he reported he saw.

Yesterday Mayor James Rolph Jr. and the police commission held a long session and announced that "virtually" all of a set of demands made by Mr. Smith in regulation under the law would be granted.

In a mass meeting of citizens tonight the Rev. Mr. Smith urged the appointment of a permanent committee to support the carrying out of the vice regulations achieved by the crusade.

Other speakers were Bishop Walter Foster Sumner of the Episcopal church of Chicago, who headed an anti-vice crusade in Chicago in 1910-11, and Walter Baughman, United States shipping commissioner and labor leader.

"What's to Be Done?"
For thirty minutes today Mr. Smith faced the target of questions revolving themselves into "What are you going to do about it?" and then the women resolutely trailed out of church.

Mr. Smith opened the meeting after two policemen had been stationed at the doors and men hangers-on from the telerail district had been ordered from the auditorium.

"I am not in a crusade against you women," Mr. Smith said. "No person in the world has more sympathy for you girls than I have. The problem of vice is a man problem. We are making the money out of it. I am willing to be of assistance to any woman in the world who is in trouble."

"I don't know your purpose in coming here, I am willing to hear you," he said. "I want to ask first how many of the women in your church would accept us into their homes—even to work? You would cast us out—where?"

"There isn't one among us here who would not quit this life for decent work," he said. "I want to ask first how many of the women in your church would accept us into their homes—even to work? You would cast us out—where?"

"I have operated a house of prostitution for eight years and have studied the problem," he said. "I want to ask first how many of the women in your church would accept us into their homes—even to work? You would cast us out—where?"

It is the year of our hope lady fashion, 1900, in the social realm this evening. In the innocent styles of a period that knew nothing of the wages of adversity the feminine charms of Chicago society will briefly be hidden. Society tonight makes its devoirs at the replica of the Lincoln inaugural ball to be given at the Palmer house under the auspices of the Arts Club. The old dances, the old clothes, and transiently the old manners will occupy and be occupied by the select company of Chicago citizens who have made the social register.

Society, however, is glad it is only for one night. Mrs. Nancy Cox-McCormack declares a hoop skirt is dreadful to get in and out of an automobile with, and Miss Betty Hoyt, who is to wear her grandmother's hoop skirt, says one could never fox trot in it. The men are equally certain that ruffled collars and lace cuffs are entirely impossible for modern society.

tion, and I pledge myself now to help you and to work for decent wages."

"But I don't think a woman has the right to sacrifice her purity for luxury and fine clothes. Christ gave his sympathy to the Magdalene, but he exhorted prostitutes to lead a white life."

"I do not blame you. I blame the men who take your wages and the owners of property where you live. The system is wrong, but it seems the 'woman must pay.'"

Many of them mothers. "I am a mother of a girl of 14. Another girl in my house is the mother of ten."

"She was sick. She wrote to her brother, a preacher, for help."

"He answered, 'Trust in the Lord.' 'These women before you are products of men of shame who buy them. You say, 'I don't want these women around my church. My church must be pure.'"

"That is not what Christ said to the Magdalene."

"If you and your people say, 'Our boys must stop their wild outbursts. All right; you stop before you harvest of those girls.'"

"Stop the New Girls!"
"If you want to stop prostitution, stop the new girls from coming in. The girls coming in will always be coming in as long as conditions, wages, and education are as they are."

"You won't do any good attacking us. Why don't you attack those conditions?"

"I won't do any good to drive us out of the city. Has your city and your church a different God that you drive us away by sending us to other cities?"

W. A. NORTHCOTT,
STATE NOTABLE,
DIES SUDDENLY

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—William A. Northcott, former lieutenant governor of Illinois and a conspicuous figure in political and insurance circles of the middle west, died suddenly at 5:45 o'clock this morning at Excelsior Springs, Mo. Acute dilation of the heart is ascribed as the cause of death.

The Illinois general assembly adjourned immediately after the death of the former lieutenant governor had been announced.

Mr. Northcott was elected lieutenant governor of Illinois in 1906 with Gov. Tanner and was reelected in 1908 with Gov. Yates. In 1908 he was appointed United States district attorney for the southern district of Illinois at Springfield, serving ten years.

He was born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., Jan. 18, 1854. He was particularly well known as the head consul of the Modern Woodmen of America and later became president of the Inter Ocean Casualty company, with headquarters in Springfield.

Mr. Northcott is survived by a son and a daughter.

RUEL ROMANCE
IN COURT; WIFE
ASKS SUPPORT

The romance of John G. Ruel, president of the Ruel Lumber company, and his wife, who was Miss Florence Henderson, 1641 West Fifty-seventh street, has landed in the Superior court today with a suit for separate maintenance.

Mrs. Ruel is the plaintiff. She charges desertion by her husband on the day after their runaway marriage at Laporte, Ind., last September.

Mrs. Ruel says she has sought to establish a home for her husband, and he has refused to come to it. She says further that he has $100,000, with an income of $15,000 a year. She also asks for money to defend herself in the suit brought by Charles H. Ruel, Rosa D'A. Ruel, and her husband in connection with the co-partnership in the Ruel Lumber company, the Ruel Wrecking company, and the Ruel Wrecking and Lumber company.

Offer Shadow Lawn to U. S.

WOMAN SING
BARONESS TELLS OF LOVE COOLING

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 25.—[That Baronesse May Van Pallandt Van Eyck treasured the friendship of Miss Frank Gray Shaver until the titled woman learned that all of her protegee's $200,000 inheritance was gone, and then dropped her like a "hot penny."]

The testimony of Miss Shaver today in her suit against the baronesse for $100,000. Miss Shaver avers the baronesse obtained this amount from her through conspiracy and breach of confidence.

Letters, checks, and receipts were introduced in support of Miss Shaver's story of how she had parted with her money. The receipts were signed by the plaintiff for money paid to her by the defendant, and one of these Miss Shaver said she had no recollection of signing. Another receipt was for $14,000 worth of stock, in consideration of a loan of $10,000 by the baronesse to Miss Shaver. The witness repudiated this receipt, saying: "I never borrowed money from her in my life."

SCHOOL CENTERS
GET $100,000
IN NEW BUDGET

Jacob Loeb and Max Loeb
Agree on Doubling Last Year's Sum.

The board of education appropriated $100,000 for community centers yesterday for 1917. This is said to be more than is spent by any city in the country for such purposes. It is more than twice as much as Chicago ever spent previously. The first appropriation for community centers a few years ago was $10,000.

President Jacob Loeb made the motion to increase the appropriation to $100,000 and it was seconded by Max Loeb. Trustee Ralph C. Otis contended that the city ought to stand part of the expense. Mrs. John MacMahon sought to amend the motion so as to provide for an appropriation of $75,000. Last year the board of education spent $47,375 for community centers.

Dudley Grant Hayes Named.
Earlier in the day the committee on school management passed a recommendation of the superintendent appointing Dudley Grant Hayes, formerly principal of the Field school, supervisor of community center work and vocational guidance at a salary of $4,000.

The most serious discussion of the day arose over an appropriation of $5,000 for light, heat, and janitor service in connection with the use of school buildings after hours for instruction in the Bohemian language. The expense of instruction is met by a Bohemian organization. Mr. Otis led the fight against the appropriation, but was outvoted.

Appropriations Compared.
Among the appropriations made were:

	Appropriated 1917.	Expended 1916.
Military training.....	$ 5,000	$ 4,000

Evening schools.....	$21,300	$22,070

*Gains.
Work on the budget will continue today.

Five Principals Elected.
In a secret session of the committee on school management, five principals were elected. Mrs. John MacMahon asked for the closed doors. Charles W. French, principal of the Parker Practice school, was made principal of the Parker High school, which has been under the direction of W. B. Owen, head of the Normal school.

Other appointments were: Miss Catherine Ruff, head assistant of the MacMahon school; Fred R. Nichols, teacher in the Crane High school, as principal of the Hendricks school; Henry W. Sumner, head of the Parental school, as principal of the Harvard; Miss Mary McNamara as principal of the Keith school; Miss Alice M. Hogue, teacher in the Calumet High, as principal of the Webster school. Adrian M. Doolin, principal of the Webster school, was transferred to the Healy school. Ellen M. Sanders was made head assistant of the Hubbard and Helen P. Van Liew of the Bell school.

Federal Labor Cases
Begin in Earnest Today

The jury which will hear the so-called labor extortion cases in the federal court selected yesterday. First arguments will be made this morning. Fifteen labor leaders and representatives of the telephone switchboard manufacturers' association are the defendants.

Robert W. Childs, a special assistant United States attorney general, now attached to the office of District Attorney Clyne, is serving as chief counsel for the defense. Protests against a government prosecutor acting as counsel for defendants in federal cases, it is said, are being prepared with a view to forwarding them to Washington.

Mr. Childs is in charge of the government's investigation and prosecution of the alleged conspiracy of coal dealers and the "food trust." His clients are charged with attempting a monopoly for Chicago-made appliances by intimidation and boycott.

PLAN STATE WAR
ON MOSQUITO

War on the Illinois mosquito is to be declared today by the Illinois Society of Engineers. It is planned to organize a special section of the society to push a movement to drain all the swamp land in the state and eliminate malaria and mosquitoes. The sessions of the convention are being held in the rooms of the Western Society of Engineers in the Monastich building.

It will be pointed out that there are 20,000 cases of malarial fever a year in Illinois and an average of 100 deaths annually. The economic loss to the community placed at $8,000,000 a year, and the total cost of drainage of all undrained land is placed at $15,000,000 by the engineers.

Another project which may be started today is a national engineering magazine, similar to the National Geographic Magazine. The suggestion was made by Prof. F. H. Newell of the University of Illinois, former head of the United States reclamation service, who started the Geographic Magazine.

LABOR CRITICISM
BRINGS A HIGH
SALARY SLASH

Council Finance Committee
Tells Why 39 "Big Fellows" Are Hit.

A strong undercurrent of opposition to the finance committee's 1917 budget developed in influential city hall circles yesterday when the full extent of committee's salary pruning became known.

Scrutiny of the published appropriation bill revealed the fact that thirty-eight of the highest paid city officials were hit by the 10 per cent reduction imposed by the budget makers. The committee scaled the salaries of all officials receiving more than $4,000 with the exception of those filling elective offices.

Mayor Denounces Reduction.
Mayor Thompson denounced the reduction, declaring it poor economy to dull the ambition of loyal employees in this manner. Ald. Richard, chairman of the finance committee, answered that the action was taken after the Federation of Labor charged that retrenchments "always hit the little fellow and not the big one."

"Many people think the finance committee is going a good way out of its way to economize when it cuts the salaries of such men as Mike Faherty, Pike, Schuetzler, Bennett, and the rest of the department heads, all of whom have given splendid account of themselves," the mayor said. "They have not complained to me, but I know how they feel."

"Take Mike Faherty, for instance. He has pushed the Michigan avenue and Twelfth street improvements to a successful conclusion and saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars. He's not worrying about the measly $5,000 salary; in his own business he makes $25,000 a year. But he might look at the salary cut as an insult."

Mayor Slams Finance Committee.
"I think before we get through the public will take a good look at the caliber of the men who did the cutting. Nobody wants to economize more than I do, but when men save the city hundreds of thousands of dollars I am reminded of an old saying of my father's about saving at the pigst and spending at the bungalow, and another one about holding a nickel so close to your eye you can't see $5 behind it."

Mayor Thompson admitted he was considering vetoing these reductions. He said he intended to scrutinize the budget very carefully before taking any action.

CAPITALS DETAIL WAR'S MOVES ON VARIOUS FRONTS

Berlin Reports Continued Advance Against Russians in the Riga Sector.

RUSSIAN FRONT

GERMAN
BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Front of Prince Leopold.—On both sides of the River As, Riga district, our attacks brought into our hands several Russian fort positions on a front of ten kilometers, together with fourteen officers, 1,700 men, and thirteen machine guns. Strong counter attacks by reserves hurried there were ineffective in hindering our progress.

On the west bank storming detachments of Rhenish regiments broke into the position at the village of Hemmynpild and brought back fourteen prisoners.

RUSSIAN
PETROGRAD, Jan. 25.—Enemy formations, after strong artillery preparation, attempted to attack our detachments north of Shmarden and near the northwestern corner of the Tihul swamp, west of Riga. They were driven back by our fire into their entrenchments.

Persistent attacks by the enemy against our troops occupying positions between the Tihul swamp and the River As were first repulsed by our fire and afterwards, as the result of a violent counter attack by one of our gallant regiments, the enemy was dislodged from the hillside in the vicinity of the eastern outskirts of the Tihul swamp and thrown back.

Southeast of the River As our detachments took the offensive in the direction of the village of Kaimen. The Germans, after bombarding these detachments with heavy artillery, themselves took the offensive and pressed back our troops northward one-third of a mile.

Obstinate battles are continuing.

In the afternoon an enemy airplane was hit by our artillery, descending into our lines in the region of the village of Smalno, west of Brody (northwest of Lemberg). During its descent the machine caught fire from flaming bombs. The pilot and the observer, who attempted to escape, were made prisoner and two machine guns in the airplane were captured.

ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN
BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Front of Archduke Joseph.—In the snow covered mountains engagements and tactical detachments and isolated artillery firing occur daily. Between the Krasno and Putna valleys yesterday fifty prisoners were taken.

Front of Field Marshal von Mackensen.—Quiet prevails on the Roumanian plain during the severe cold weather. Along the Danube there was artillery firing on the river, with outpost skirmishes.

RUSSIAN
PETROGRAD, Jan. 25.—The situation is unchanged.

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH
PARIS, Jan. 25.—Our artillery carried out destructive fires on the German positions and batteries in the region of Bures, northeast of Lunville, and at Hartmannsweilerkopf. The artillery fighting was quite lively in upper Alsace. There was no event of importance on the rest of the front.

BELGIAN
PARIS, Jan. 25.—On the entire Belgian front spirited cannonading occurred on both sides. In the region of Steenstraete violent bomb fighting took place.

BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 25.—We carried out a successful raid at noon today in the neighborhood of Hulluch. Many of the enemy were killed in their trenches, and also in a dugout destroyed by us. We secured some prisoners. Our casualties were four men slightly wounded.

Two hostile raiding parties were driven off last night east of Fauquessart. A third party succeeded early this morning in reaching our trenches east of Ypres under cover of a heavy bombardment. The raiders were immediately driven out and our position reestablished.

The enemy's artillery activity was most marked during the day in the Ypres sector. Our artillery as effectively replied. We also carried out a successful bombardment of the enemy's trenches east of Neuville St. Vaast.

There was much aerial activity yesterday on both sides. One enemy machine was brought down by our anti-aircraft guns. In the course of air fights four other German machines were destroyed and three more driven down damaged. Three of our machines are missing.

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—In the Artois, and between the Ancre and the Somme and in the Aisne district, the activity of the artillery and mine throwers temporarily increased. Repeated clashes occurred between reconnoitering detachments before our positions. Southeast of Berry-au-Bac, northwest of Helms, Prussian and Saxon raiding detachments entered French trenches and returned, after violent fighting, with one officer and thirty men as prisoners and two machine guns.

Army group of the German crown prince.—By a dashing, plucky reconnoitering operation, troops of the Hanoverian Infantry reserve regiment succeeded in overwhelming a French post three times numerically superior, and in bringing it back with them, together with one machine gun, into their own line.

FRENCH-GERMAN BATTLES IN THE AIR

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—(By Wireless to Seydlitz.)—The success of German attacks in numerous operations along the western front is due to the military critic of the Overseas News agency. He writes: For the purpose of reconnoitering, German airplanes have advanced far behind the hostile lines. The Pompey and Frouard foundries, north of Nancy (7) were efficiently shelled by heavy artillery with the assistance of observations made by the airmen. Simultaneously a German battle air squadron successfully dropped bombs of a total of 2,500 kilograms on the same objects. German machines won victories over the enemy in numerous air engagements both in front of and behind the hostile lines. The enemy in consequence losing altogether eight machines. In Flanders (1) Lieut. von Bue-low brought down two hostile airplanes within the German lines; Lieut. von Richtofen, south of Lille (2) won his seventeenth victory, and Lieut. Baidamus, in the Char.—ne (5), his tenth. Three additional airplanes, two Nieuports and one Farman, were brought down near Fort Douaumont (6) after a violent air engagement. One of them was accounted for by Lieut. Frankl, who thus disabled his fifteenth machine. The eighth airplane was lost by the enemy on the Somme (3) front.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The French official statement says: Lieut. Guynemer yesterday brought down his second German airplane from the sky, near the railroad station at Chaulnes (4). This brings up to twenty-seven the number of enemy airplanes destroyed by this pilot. Lieut. Herteaux on the same day brought down his seventeenth enemy airplane, which crashed to the ground near Pavilliers.

They report that the depot and wait until an officer with the hat comes into the room a little before the departure of a train and calls out the names of those to go. Then the police gather up their bags and equipments and march off to the station close by. They never know where they are going; they are put into a certain car which later is switched from the train, and they wake to find themselves at the Somme, or near Verdun, or somewhere else.

They never know how long they will be kept at the depot, inside the smelly, dusky printing establishment that is being used for this purpose, or in the muddy yard just outside, perhaps a few days, perhaps a few days. The great punishment for bad behavior, so the commandant told me, was to have them back for an extra day in the depot. "They never complain of going to the front!" he said proudly.

They Prefer the Trenches. As I looked about the dim, badly heated and badly ventilated depot with its many recumbent figures sleeping on filthy couches and dirty straw, I did not wonder at their dislike of remaining there longer than possible. It might not be altogether an ardent patriotism that made them prefer the trenches! The place demanded the brush of a Rembrandt. A long, low room with wooden trusses, its floor still cumbered with type cases and other paraphernalia of the printing establishment, a small stove at each end, around which were huddled blue coated figures, smoking and waiting for the train.

The faces of the sleepers were often white and lined; those were probably the men discharged from the front, and returning to the front. All were, I am sorry to say, very much soiled and mused, not to say dirty. How could they be otherwise in that dirty stable? But in spite of dirt, sunder, pallor, their young faces were strong and cheerful for the most part. Uncon-

AUSTRIA ENDS LONG TAX ROW WITH HUNGARY

BERLIN, Jan. 24, via London, Jan. 25. (Delayed.)—The long discussed composition of the differences between Austria and Hungary has been nearly patched up, and an agreement probably will be signed early in February, according to a Vienna dispatch to the Tagblatt. The dispatch says that as soon as this settlement is made negotiations for a commercial treaty between Austria-Hungary and Germany will be undertaken immediately.

The agreement with Hungary, which will be effective for twenty years, provides that Hungary will continue to pay its present percentage of the expenses of the empire, but that later cattle duties will be raised appreciably. Regulations regarding the importation of live swine also are to be altered. The agreement also contains clauses for the regulation of railroad rates, and admits Hungarian stocks to the Vienna bourse. With the practical completion of this composition, Premier Clemens is expected to be able to take up the outstanding Bohemian questions within the next eight or ten weeks. These include redistricting and introduction of the German language into official business. The Galician problem has been definitely postponed until the end of the war.

AT THE DEPOT: A SKETCH OF FRANCE'S MEN

Soldiers Wait Long Amid Hardships, but Never Do They Complain.

BY ROBERT HERRICK.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Last night I went out with some good Samaritans to a canteen at a military depot just outside Paris. A great gear regulator or special station for troops has been established in the plain to the northeast of the city and thousands of soldiers pass through there every day and night, coming from some place on the front, going to another sector, or as now to the south, to Salonika.

At the depot which I visited are collected stray soldiers, those who have lost their regiments because while in hospital or on leave the regiment has been moved to another position. It takes them days, sometimes, finally to rejoin their regiments. One young fellow I talked with had been six days at it.

A Form of Punishment. They report at the depot and wait until an officer with the hat comes into the room a little before the departure of a train and calls out the names of those to go. Then the police gather up their bags and equipments and march off to the station close by. They never know where they are going; they are put into a certain car which later is switched from the train, and they wake to find themselves at the Somme, or near Verdun, or somewhere else.

Peace Terms Only Beginning. "There will be much for us to do. Peace terms will be only a beginning. After they are sufficiently arranged we shall have to set to work to build up that ordered freedom and fraternity which is the only security for human peace and progress and which militarism has destroyed, and is it not certain that the nations which have borne the heat and burden of the day in overthrowing that militarism will take a leading share in building that new earth which they have made possible by their sacrifices?"

"No, if we endure to the end I have which fears for the future, and not the least important of the foundations for the work we shall have to do together in that future will be this war council of the British people."

They Prefer the Trenches. As I looked about the dim, badly heated and badly ventilated depot with its many recumbent figures sleeping on filthy couches and dirty straw, I did not wonder at their dislike of remaining there longer than possible. It might not be altogether an ardent patriotism that made them prefer the trenches! The place demanded the brush of a Rembrandt. ## THE WAR A YEAR AGO

Jan. 26, 1916.
British labor voted to support the government's war policy.
Paris claimed all of the lost ground at Neuville had been recovered.
Italian trenches at Osavia captured by Austrians.
Constantinople again reported a British repulse with "appalling losses."

TWO YEARS AGO.
Jan. 25, 1915.
Austro-Hungarian forces captured Kielce, in Polish Russia.

querable French youth! What the war hasn't slaughtered outright or maimed it has strengthened beyond the shadow of a doubt, and it has also hardened their spirits, toughened them in the severest school of human discipline the world has ever known.

Over the Steaming Coffee. Outside the yard was the little shed which contained the canteen. There a cheerful, kindly American woman served tirelessly bowls of hot coffee, tea, or chocolate, according to taste, with a bit of bread at demand. Sometimes she handed out a few cigarettes or set the talking machine to work on the shelf between her and the men. They stood about in the puddles drinking the hot bowls of liquid, chatting, exchanging jokes, always patient, always cheerful, always polite.

They were all those that I saw— young, but not too young, and they were in good condition and in good spirits— excellent material for soldiers. The astonishing cheerfulness and months and years of this! The astonishing patience and fortitude of them, returning to the cold, muddy trenches, with never a bit of fire to warm hands or feet for hours on end!

Bearing the Burden. When one is disgusted with the drive of parliaments, the inanities of comfortable civilians, the speaking meanness of rich embargues, you have but to get among the soldiers anywhere, in a hospital, at the front, on the railroad train, or in a depot like this, to realize on whose backs society rests always— those of the honest, simple little people, who work or fight without much comfort or recognition, but without complaint or self-pity.

At midnight we left the depot, still swarming with soldiers, and as our car headed for Paris in the dark of a December night, illuminated by the lights from munition factories, we passed a long file of soldiers on their way from a train to the depot, slopping along in the muddy road, with their packs on their shoulders. Tomorrow will find them at the front—somewhere.

WILSON'S PLANS FOR RAIL LAWS ON A SIDETRACK

Democratic Senators Decline to Put Program Ahead of Other Legislation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Democratic senators in a conference tonight failed to agree to put the president's plan of railroad legislation ahead of all other legislation on the Democratic program for the session.

Although Senator Lewis of Illinois went to the conference armed with instructions from the president to have the caucus give the railroad bills the right of way, much antagonism developed against this plan, and, rather than risk a vote, administration senators postponed the matter to go back to the steering committee for further consideration.

The chief opposition to the president's program developed among the friends of the corrupt practices bill. They insisted that their bill should have the right of way.

The entire program of the steering committee was tentatively adopted by the Democratic conference.

Order of Bills Not Decided. Nothing was decided as to the order in which the bills will be taken up, the steering committee being instructed to make a further report on this subject. The measures tentatively accepted were:

1. Revenue and appropriation bills.
2. Water power bill, now the unfinished business of the senate.
3. Oil leasing bill.
4. Webb bill to permit combinations to engage in foreign trade.
5. Corrupt practices bill.
6. Puerto Rican government bill.
7. Railroad bill.
8. Flood control bill.

In giving the president's arguments for putting the railroad legislation ahead of all other matters in the senate, Senator Lewis said the president felt the Democratic party had made a contract with the people in the recent campaign to meet the pending railroad legislation as supplementary to the eight hour law which the people had accepted.

Revenue Bill Divides Democrats. Democratic leaders in the house are carefully counting noses to decide whether they have enough votes to pass the revenue bill. Strong objection on the Democratic side has cropped out against the excess profits tax feature of the bill.

Letters are being received by congressmen representing manufacturing and business districts, protesting against the excess profits tax. These members are in favor of the bill, since it specifically exempts husbandry from the tax.

The charge is made by a number of congressmen that the bill is fostered and supported by the representatives of the agricultural districts and by the southern congressmen as a blow at the industrial centers of the north. As a consequence the revolt, which threatened to survive only until the Democratic caucus tomorrow night, now is in danger of invading the caucus.

Democrats Fear Caucus Revolt. The fear is expressed by some of the Democratic leaders that enough Democrats might withdraw from the caucus to make the passage of the excess profits tax dubious.

It was learned tonight that the bill has been written with a view to offering even further exemption than the original 8 per cent exemption. A provision has been inserted in the bill exempting $5,000 of profits, even after the 8 per cent exemption is taken out.

Girl Steals Watch; Gets Year.

Miss Rose Reynolds, 1525 East Sixty-fifth street, was fined $100 and sentenced to one year in the House of the Good Shepherd by Judge Mahoney yesterday after confessing that she had obtained a watch belonging to Miss Blanche Smith of Oak Park from a jewelry store, where it had been left for repairs. She was arrested while trying to return a pawn ticket for the watch.

Back Pay, Perhaps.

Stephen Jerkes of 283 West Twenty-third street, fell three times last year from ladders on which he was working, and each time failed to disclose where he had lived or injured to his back. He was arrested yesterday on charges of falsely obtaining $2,445 from the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty company.

CITY GROCERS PLAN BUREAU TO RELIEVE H. C. L.

"Mark all articles for sale in plain figures and make the price as low as possible."

"A charge of 5 cents to each customer for all deliveries."

"A charge of 1 cent on each dollar of credit, and all bills payable each week or each month, according to agreement."

"These rules will govern the operation of the Grocers' Efficiency Bureau to be established in a central location in the loop district, as a clearing house of supplies for retail grocery and market dealers of Chicago, according to action taken at a large meeting of dealers in the Hotel Sherman last night."

"It is the purpose of this bureau," said S. W. Roth, publisher of the Retailers' Journal, founder and president of the bureau, "to cut down the cost of living by selling all goods for cash or on a small time credit."

Many of the retailers present testified that they have been operating under these rules and found them to be beneficial and satisfactory to customer and dealer alike.

HOUSE HEARING FOR CONVENTION ON CONSTITUTION

Public to Get Voice Before the Committee Wednesday—No Opposition Seen.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The first brush on the house side for the constitutional convention resolution will come Wednesday in the house committee on judiciary. Chairman Dr. Young set that afternoon for the public hearing on the Curtis resolution that was adopted yesterday in the senate.

No organized opposition to a favorable report on the resolution has developed so far as the fifty-one judiciary committee members are concerned, and friends of the proposition were optimistic tonight.

The two committees having under consideration Gov. Lowden's administrative code bill, have determined to start in Tuesday upon the skeleton bill that has been printed, introduced by the department. Indications now are that there will be no committee bill reported to either senate or house within less than three or four weeks. Meanwhile, all patronage matters will remain as they are.

Light Day for Lawmakers.

Only a few bills were introduced on both sides of the legislature today. One of the more important, introduced by Senator Dunlap, would abolish township collectors of taxes outside of Cook county.

Representative Bruce of Chicago, introduced a measure in the house that would prohibit the sale of liquors that contain more than 10 per cent alcohol. It is said to be favored by some of the brewing interests.

State Treasurer Len Small went to Chicago today and will attempt to get his hand on state funds now being held by County Treasurer Henry Stuckart. For a time it is to be made tomorrow that the entire sum of inheritance and general taxes be turned over to the state "forthwith."

Lawyers to Talk Code Bill.

Illinois lawyers—members of the Illinois State Bar association—will sit with Gov. Lowden, the justices of the Supreme court, and all of the members of the legislature in Springfield at a banquet Feb. 7, at which the governor's administrative code bill will be discussed from all angles.

Frederick C. Tanner of New York City, a former Illinois man, late chairman of the Republican state committee of New York and the chairman of the committee on "governor and state officers" in the recent New York constitutional convention, will be the speaker of the evening. His subject will be the "New York Constitutional Convention of 1915."

Like Illinois Plan.

The New York convention devoted considerable time to consideration of the plan now under discussion in Illinois and made the chief feature of the immediate administration program by Gov. Lowden. New York wanted to consolidate 150 boards. Illinois wants to consolidate about 120.

The committee in charge of the banquet is as follows: Emil C. Weston, chairman; Judge Philip S. Post, Judge Stephen A. Foster, Judge Howard W. Hays, Parker S. Ross, Harry E. Smoot, Ralph M. Shaw, all of Chicago; James H. Matheny of Springfield, and Senator W. G. McCullough of Decatur.

DATA COMPLETE FOR RESUMPTION OF LEAK INQUIRY

New York, Jan. 25.—The inquiry into the alleged "leak" of advance information on President Wilson's peace note will be resumed here Monday morning. It was announced tonight by Representative Robert L. Henry, chairman of the house rules committee. He said he had sent telegrams calling back to this city members of the committee who returned to Washington.

"We will have abundant data on hand," Mr. Henry declared, "to go ahead without a break in the inquiry."

Regarding information sought by the committee concerning transactions on the New York stock exchange within the period of the alleged "leak," Mr. Henry said:

"In my judgment we will have everything we want in less than five days."

Bernard Baruch, and possibly J. P. Morgan, as well as others familiar with Wall Street affairs, may be among the first witnesses called when the committee resumes its hearings, according to Mr. Henry.

The telegraph and telephone companies, the chairman asserted, had been asked by the committee to preserve all slips or records of telegraph messages or telephone conversations between New York and Washington during the period of the alleged "leak."

"Only those people mentioned in Mr. Lawson's testimony and Mr. Lawson himself will be called to the witness stand if it is shown they are links in the facts developed by the committee's inquiry," Mr. Henry concluded.

After a conference between officials of the stock exchange, the attorney, and Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for the rules committee of the house, the following statement was issued tonight:

"In order still further to expedite response to the request for immediate information from brokers on the part of the rules committee modifications have been made, a statement of which will be sent out by the stock exchange officials tomorrow morning."

FOREIGN LOANS AID U. S., TRADE DELEGATES TOLD

Business Convention Opens at Pittsburgh with 1,000 Men in Attendance.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Opening of the national foreign trade convention here today, Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust company of St. Louis, declared the enormous loans made by this country to Europe were splendid investments. He further stated that all such loans would stimulate this country's foreign trade and that American business men would develop sound credit in foreign countries if they expected to compete for the world's trade.

The convention was presided over by James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation. Among the delegates were many men prominent in the commercial and business world. Albin Johnson, president of the Baldwin locomotive works of Philadelphia, was chosen chairman of the convention, and will preside at all of the sessions.

Warns Against Selfishness.
In an address on "The Industrial Reconstruction in Europe," W. W. Nichols, chairman of the American Industrial commission to France, warned against selfish grabbing for European trade. "Cooperation and good will must necessarily be of prime importance in any permanent business relationship and such is an essential to the other," he said.

Among speakers of the day were Louis D. Pierson, chairman of the Irving Trust bank of New York, who spoke on "American Banking in Foreign Trade." "Foreign investment as an aid to foreign trade" was the subject of an address by C. K. McIntosh, vice president of the Bank of California, San Francisco, Cal., and B. F. Harris of Chicago, Ill., spoke on "The Farmer and Foreign Trade."

Illusion Before Convention.
A call to the farmers to interest themselves in foreign trade was made by B. F. Harris. "We farmers are economic illiterates in production and distribution," he said. "For fifty years the farmer has been feeding the people of the United States at less than the cost of production."

"The farmer has profited and is profiting by the great war export business more than any one, but has done so without having taken any heed to foreign trade problems, simply allowing the foreign consumer to come and take away grain, cotton, fruits, dairy products, and many other articles in his own ships."

CITY'S BUSIEST TROLLEY CORNER FAR FROM LOOP

Congestion Worst at Halsted, Milwaukee, and Grand, with Car Every Ten Seconds.

While congestion in the loop has long been regarded as Chicago's most serious traction problem, the council local transportation committee yesterday discovered that the most congested street car corner in the city, if not in the United States, is not in the loop at all.

According to R. F. Kelker, the city's transportation supervisor, the distinction belongs to the west side, at the juncture of the Halsted street, Milwaukee avenue, and Grand avenue car lines.

25,349 Transfers in Day.
Figures presented by Mr. Kelker showed that 25,349 persons transfer at this corner every twenty-four hours. In a three-hour period 1,078 cars passed the intersection, or one every ten seconds. During one rush hour 440 cars were counted, the average interval being eight seconds.

Mr. Kelker's remedy, which probably will be adopted by the committee, is to reroute the Halsted street cars around the center of congestion. It is proposed to divert the north bound Halsted cars east on Austin avenue to Union avenue, north on Union to Ohio street, and thence west to Halsted street. The south bound cars, according to this plan, would be diverted west at Ohio street to Green street, thence south to Austin avenue, where they would turn east to Halsted street.

"Anti-Parking" Favored.
The proposed "anti-parking" ordinance was recommended to the council practically without opposition. The ordinance prohibits parking vehicles in car line streets in the downtown districts between 7 to 10 in the morning and 4 to 7 in the evening. A "loading space" is provided at points where street cars take on passengers. The committee decided to recommend the re-establishment of cab stands.

ENJOINS COUNTY AID TO CHURCH CHARITY HOMES

Judge Baldwin Stops Payment of Public Funds to Catholic School.

Judge Jesse A. Baldwin granted yesterday the petition of William H. Dunn to restrain Cook county from paying $4,181 to the Chicago Industrial School for Girls, a Catholic institution. This means that dependent children may be turned back unless such institutions are willing to accept them without pay, or people of means come to the rescue.

Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court declared that he would continue to commit Catholic children to the Catholic institutions, and that he was sure that they would receive careful treatment.

The petition contended the payment of money by the county to any school or institution under the control of any church was in violation of the statute. He charged that the main purpose of the Chicago Industrial Institution for Girls had as its main object to effectuate the religious objects of the Catholic church.

He filed similar suits against other denominational institutions to which the Juvenile court has been committing children.

In giving his decision Judge Baldwin said that it seemed an established policy that such institutions may not receive public money to aid in their support. He said, however, the work done by such religious institutions often was better and more economical than in state institutions.

FORT DEARBORN TABLET COVERED; HOYT PROTESTS

W. M. Hoyt, donor of the bronze tablet which commemorates the site of old Fort Dearborn, near the Rush street bridge, and the massacre which occurred there Aug. 12, 1815, has written a spirited letter to the Chicago Historical society from his winter home at Green Cove Springs, Fla., protesting against the enterprise of the Thomas Cusack company in hiding the tablet behind an advertising billboard.

"Such desecration!" writes Mr. Hoyt. "It must not be. It was donated to the city by me for your care. The city should do its duty and preserve it. See State's Attorney Hoyne. He will find a way to stop it. It was bad enough to have the saloon on the site, but this last move shows what some people will do for money when lost to pride and principle. If I were there I would see to it. I know, however, your society has both pride and push and will do what it can to maintain the pride and honor of our city."

Miss C. M. McIlvaine, librarian of the Historical society, declared that there appeared no recourse against the action of the Cusack company, except public opinion and a boycott of any article advertised on the billboard. George Maryweather said the matter will be placed before the Historical society at its next meeting.

Eastland Being Made Safe for Naval Militia Use

The Eastland, which capsized in the Chicago river with the loss of more than 800 lives, is being made into one of the safest vessels on the lakes, according to Capt. Edward H. Evers of the Illinois naval militia in speaking yesterday before the Electric Club Jovian league.

"The Eastland was unsafe, but when we get through with it the hull will have been rebuilt and every safety precaution taken," said Capt. Evers. "We have the largest hull afloat in the harbor here, but it is not sufficient for our needs. We secured an appropriation of $125,000 for the purchase and remodeling of the Eastland."

Thickening Sauce.

WITH many dishes to prepare and only two hands to do the work, many a woman has a brain-storm that she could avoid, and, of course, she should avoid trying to do more than she comfortably can. But when it comes to cooking, the other fault is more commonly observable.

To make a sauce, without the stirring while it is thickening, is something that most people would say could not be done, but it can. A sauce thickened with wheat flour needs twice the cooking of one thickened with potato flour, that is, about twenty minutes. To stand and stir this sauce for twenty minutes, or even half that time, is something women and cooks everywhere have not liked to do, so we have had cooked white sauces and whole digestive troubles.

With care the foundation for a butter sauce in particular can easily be cooked without stirring over the fire. When milk is used instead of water, we have added another element of difficulty, but the experienced cook will conquer this. A pint boiler with a cover, or a covered saucepan of that size, is needed for a cup of sauce, which may have butter and pieces of boiled egg added to it, if it is to be served with boiled fish, or it may be sweetened and flavored for a pudding sauce, or it may be used with butter alone for a cracker toast.

For a thin sauce put one slightly rounded tablespoon of flour in the boiler and wet it slightly with water, stirring till smooth; add one cup of cold water carefully, set over fire turned to lowest point, or use simmering burner and cover. Remove cover before the liquid boils or part of the flour will be elevated to the cover and remain there. Continue to cook gently without cover. If it is foamy when removing cover stir until bubbles are broken.

While sitting in the lobby of a hotel I happened to hear the following conversation between a man and a little girl:

"Misther, will you please tell me what time it is?"
"Two-thirty," was the reply, and the little girl, who had undoubtedly been instructed to thank whomever told her the time, said: "Thank you, thank you," and ran upstairs, but almost immediately returned, saying: "Misther, will you please tell me the time again? When I said thank you I forgot what you said."

BY MAE TINEE.

STORIES by Albert Payson Terhune are nearly always readable and this picture, which was made from one of them, undoubtedly will prove popular, featuring as it does the graceful Myrtle Stedman and Mr. House Peters, who is without doubt one of the best looking and most polished of the screen stars. However, one of the most interesting parts of the picture is the entire production for Mr. Terhune. Mr. Peters' grown up fiancée wears curls hanging over her shoulders. And at that she isn't a young country maiden or a little girl just out of the convent. She was a society girl who had for at least five years been old enough to wear a hat on her head. Now why, will you tell me, does an intelligent director permit such things? Is it oversight? Or are certain producers banded together for the maintenance and perpetuation of the frowny femininity? In one instance, the young woman under discussion "did up" her tresses, and she looked so infinitely more mindful and less insipid! Ah, well, one can only exclaim—and hope!

The fiancée and two wives, one the wife of a jealous husband and the other the helpmate of a puny bank cashier, are the three women whose happiness is at stake. There are several morals, that flash their beacon lights of warning as the reels unroll. The greatest of these is—never, in playful mood, go riding with a man who is not your husband—especially when you have once been engaged to the man in question, and your husband is afflicted with the mania—jealousy. Circumstantial evidence is apt to prove pretty strong evidence.

Another moral: Ladies, keep your appointments with your fiancé. Be on time. And still another: If you are a bank cashier, never go out motoring alone after you have returned to your home, the day's work done, and dinner over. If the bank is robbed and the police call your home and your wife says you're not there—went out for a little spin—and the hour is 11 a. m., it looks pretty bad, pretty bad!

And another still: Curb your jealousy. Does jealousy ever get you anywhere? It does not! It just makes the object of it hate you. So you never know what's what at that.

It is a pleasure to see Miss Stedman and Mr. Peters work. They are so free from care and affection. And, taken all in all, one would probably consider "The Happiness of Three Women" a commendable picture.

Real Love Stories.

They Were Checked Together.

THE first chapter of this story takes us back to the summer of 1903, the year of the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago. At this fair there was a nursery where visiting parents might "check" their infants.

Some years after the fair my mother told me of one day when I was left there. When my father and mother returned and we had had lunch, I was left with a little girl, having a sand party.

In honor of her birthday, of which day it was the anniversary. We were leath to break up our party, and before my parents took me home came to get her, whereat our party was no more.

The second chapter does not begin until nearly twenty years later. I had gotten nearly through college and without finding that one particular girl of my acquaintance took much more of my thoughts than any of my courses. I had been with her a good many places and we had had many times together. When finally I got up my nerve to ask her "the question" she put me off with saying that she liked a lot of fellows—which I knew well, too well for one of my jealous nature in some things—but she added, no one of them better than all the rest. But the way she replied brought me back to ask her had she had several times more; I can't recall just how many.

One evening when we were together at a party relating facts of memory she told of recalling a make-believe party at a big playground which her mother had told her was at the World's fair. She remembered the little boy who helped her have a party, and having to quit before the party was done. Though most of the folks didn't think that it was much memory, I thought it most certainly was, and could hardly wait until we should get back to her home, for I had resolved to tell her alone who it was who had been at her party. When we did finally get home and I had told her, it was only a moment until she knew what I was going to ask her. I never asked her for I knew I needn't.

Miss Sixteen's Problem.
"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 16 and have been going with a boy 18 for a year and a half. During this time I have learned to love this boy dearly and I know my love is returned. We had a little quarrel about a month ago."

Optimistic, heart-warming, finely American

Henry Kitchell Webster's New Novel

The Thoroughbred

If Mr. Webster had searched six months for a popular plot, he could hardly have improved on the plan of The Thoroughbred.

For it appeals to a very general and deep-seated Anglo-Saxon desire, the desire to see unaided courage win the struggle with adversity.

This is what happens to young Mr. and Mrs. Blair. His business fails; he advises her to go back to her parents.

She refuses, and then with the grit and fire and determination characteristic of the best type of American girl, she takes hold of the ugly situation and makes a thing of beauty out of it.

The Thoroughbred is a delightful and a distinguished piece of work. By the author of The Real Adventure.

Stiffening Crocheted Baskets.

"Kindly tell me how to stiffen crocheted baskets in the best way."

The question has been asked and answered several times in the Corner during the last half year. The most approved method would seem to be stiffening the basket with a thin sirup of sugar and water. The former rather inclines to another way of gaining the requisite consistency by the use of a thin solution of gum arabic. The gum is soaked in cold water for an hour, then dissolved in hot water and allowed to get cold. Members are invited to supply a more detailed and perhaps more satisfactory answer.

Fur Dye Rubs Off.

"I got a new set of furs last Friday. When the fur is worn next to my skin my face and neck get black. Can you tell me the reason? And is there any way that I can clean them? I will do just as you say and thank you for your trouble."

Were I in your place, I should inquire at the furrier's where the set was purchased just what he would advise in the case of fur staining your face and neck. It may be he could remedy the trouble. If you are unable to do this, give the furs a bath in plenty of gasoline to carry off the surplus dye. Do the work out of doors, as gasoline is inflammable. Then wipe them dry with a clean, soft cloth, brush, and shake well in the open air.

Buy Some Skates
Helen, and Don't Study So Hard.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HELEN: BUY A PAIR OF skates if you have none in your possession now, and every day after school go skating for an hour or a half hour. You need just this kind of exercise to buoy you up. Melancholia is a dreadful affliction for a schoolgirl. But you say yourself you come home from school and study and read all the rest of the day and evening. That's what the trouble is. You don't give yourself enough fresh air for fun.

HELEN: YOUR HAIR MUST BE wonderful. But if the excessive quantity you have makes your head ache I certainly should have some of it clipped off. You can have it clipped out from the center back of the head so that it will make no difference in your appearance. In fact, you may find dressing your hair a much easier process with the removal of some of your crowning glory.

JOHANNA: A SIMPLE EXERCISE for developing the calf of the leg is to rise on tip toes. Hold this position a few seconds, then lower the body. Do this alternately, first with one foot and then with the other, and finally with both. I shall be glad to send you instructions for developing the bust if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sorrowful complexion—dark rings under your eyes—complexion a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Reaction of Market and S

the Close—Corn

Wheat suffered a reaction and of the session yesterday most of the early advance the finish were  $\frac{1}{4}$ @ $\frac{1}{2}$ c higher but started out higher and during most of the session, a great deal of selling took place and weakened. A material of the commission house was noted early, but later the business dropped to small again, and there was a consequence of demand near the bulls furnished much of the the final hour, the action of being a source of disappo them, and they unloaded

chased in the morning.
Export trade was again also counted against the reported 75,000 bu taken while the seaboard said was small. A buyer for governments denied buy

Country Offerings

Little wheat is being off country, particularly from west, and receipts are run Clearances from the seal lighter at 303,000 bu, compared 1,172,000 bu a year ago, but total is expected to be quite a further material decrease. Supply is anticipated, fewer complaints from the belt, but nevertheless there Receipts at primary market $41,000 bu, against 1,363,000 ago. Winnipeg receipts were against 267 last year.

Political news was more for the bulls. Apparently no more efforts for peace being, and reports indicate belligerents are preparing struggle on an extensive

Corn in Further Advance
Corn again made a noteworthy gain in strength and May delivered at a new high price, while July advanced to a new level on the crop. Reaction was caused by material reactions in the futures, but advances of 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ at the finish. Many of the have bought freely of late with a liberal scale yesterday, but a good demand from cash and commission houses and they were well taken care of. Demand was again reported good for sales were claimed.
